MARSH'S PATENT OIL, PINE OIL, PORTABLE TABLE BURNING FLUID,

And manufacturer of

DOUBLY RETINED CAMPHINE, second to none in quality, and always in stock.

Having 5000 different articles, Dr. Dray's Patent Oil with extract of camphine, he was advised to take Hutchings' Vegetable Bitters, and have every reason to believe it has perfectly cured him. He has no symptoms of a return of the disease and believes for the effect it had on me that it will cure the worst cases of Dyspepsia.

DYSPEPSIA, DR. HUTCHINGS' VEGETABLE DYSPEPSIA BITTERS.

THE MOST FAMILIAR MEDICINE OF THE AGE!

Used by Physicians of High standing.

These strengths are all that is necessary, for the Dr. Dray gives great time and vigor to the digestive organs, truly the system against all disease, and can take with safety, at no time debilitating the patient—being grateful to the most delicate stomach and available for their cheering, invigorating, strengthening, and restorative properties, and a considerable time remedy for the.

DYSPEPSIA IN ITS WORST FORM.

Men, like complaints, in this, by far the commonest, Diseases, Disorders of the skin, Liver and kidneys, Losses of appetite, low spirits, nervous headache, palpitation of the heart, shaking and failure of strength at the stomach, and all other distress caused by an impure state of the blood, Liver, &c., which tend to debilitate and weaken the system.

Persons suffering from a morbid and unnatural condition, will find this medicine of

INESTIMABLE VALUE.

In all cases of General Debility this Medicine ACTS LIKE A CHARM.

The following certificate is from an old gentleman who readily acknowledges the Bitters the only thing that keeps him alive.

Dear Sir—I hold you in a high esteem in your valuable Bitters! I hardly know where to find words to thank you for the good it has done me. I would not be without it on any account, and honestly believe that it is the only thing that keeps me alive.

He has recommended it to many of my friends; they all speak of it in the highest terms, which it richly deserves.

You are at liberty to refer any one to me as regards your valuable compound.

WALTER SIMONSON,
63 Fourth street, Williamsburg.

Read the following from an eminent physician:

The undersigned being acquainted with some of the ingredients of Hutchings' Vegetable Dyspepsia Bitters, and having used it for some time in his practice with every desired effect, he recommends this medicine from the certainty of its effect, and gives it a preference over all preparations as a medicine for that disease among equal ones. Dr. Dray;

HARDENBERGER, M. D.,
No. 1 Birch street, N. Y.

From Luther A. Wyman, Esq., late President of New York Musical Society, now of Brooklyn:

The undersigned was afflicted with Dyspepsia of the worst sort for over year and a half, during a greater portion of which time he made use of no remedy, but suffered the disease to take care of itself, until he was recommended to try Hutchings' Vegetable Bitters; he very soon derived benefit from the use of a few bottles of this medicine and now considers himself entirely well.

By winning the wheat from the chaff, by providing a remedy for the inveterate, and for a large collection of Biography, Voyages and Travels, History, and more solid matter, a work is produced, well calculated to universal popularity, and to raise the standard of public taste.

This excellent work is published every Saturday by Dr. LITTEL & CO., Boston, who supply orders by mail from all parts of the country. Remit any sum to them, and they will send the work to that amount.

Each number makes a handsome pamphlet of 48 pages double col. octavo. Price 12-1/2 cts., or by the year, six dollars. We add to our own recommendation, what our readers will infinitely more, a letter from the late Ex. President J. Q. Adams—on the 27th December, 1812, and Science which abound in Europe and this country, this has appeared to me to be the most useful. It contains indeed the exposition of the current literature of the English language, but this by its immense extent and comprehensive includes a portraiture of the human mind in the most extensive of the present age.

J. Q. ADAMS.

Whig—We cannot urge upon the Whigs, two strongly, the great importance of the elections which take place to-morrow. Never have we had a more important State election since 1812. At no time have our opponents been so thoroughly and effectually organized as they are at this time. They have flooded the State with money, and they are making use of every possible means to elect their candidates. Even in strong Whig towns, where there is no possibility of their electing their own men to the General Assembly, they will make a demonstration against the regularly nominated Whig candidates. They will unite with disaffected Whigs, and run an opposition to the regular Whigs. Our friends must see to this, that these men are not permitted to make any inroads upon the party. Wherever a man can be elected, with the aid of our opponents, it is virtually a decisive triumph.

If the locofoco should carry the State at this time, all the labor and all the exertions of the Law and Order and Whig parties, for the last ten years, would be entirely lost. The men whom we are contending against now are the Dorrites of 1842, under another name. They, the Government; and if they can obtain it, no man can conceive of the mischief which they will do. They will attempt to alter the Constitution of the State, that Constitution which was established in dark and dangerous times, when an armed mob, composed partly of the vilest scoundrels from New York, were threatening the institutions of the State. They have openly announced that if they can carry the State, now, they intend to alter the Constitution; and, our word for it, if they cannot do it peaceably, they will by force, even if they call in aid from New York, as they did in 1812. Are the people of Rhode Island prepared for this? Are they willing to yield up everything which is sacred and dear to them in the State, into the hands of lawless men who are devoid of principle? We think not.—We are confident that the true and conservative men of the State will come up boldly to the polls, and vote the entire Whig ticket, and thus prevent a recurrence of those things to which we have alluded and which will surely come upon us again unless the Whigs are successful. All law-loving and well-disposed men have too much at stake to remain quiet while such changes as we have spoken of surround them. Come up, then, one and all, and vote for all the regularly nominated Whig candidates; and thus you will preserve the institutions and the good government of the State.

The most rapid piece of legislation ever recorded in the annals of any legislative body, was the passage of the light house bill in the United States Senate. The motion was made to take it up and carried; it was read, a first, second, and third time, and passed, sent to the House for the signature of the Speaker and enrollment, returned to the Senate, signed by its President, and sent to the President within the space of five minutes. The motion to take up was made five minutes before the expiration of Congress.

STATE OF WEBSTER.—It is stated in the International Monthly Magazine for April, that it is in contemplation to place in the Park of New York City a colossal figure of Mr. Webster, by Hirsh Powers.

Whig—The N. Y. Commercial says it is estimated that there are six thousand gaming houses in that city.

An adjourned Whig meeting was held at the Town Hall, last evening. The following nominations for Assessors were made:

For Senator,
SETH W. MACY.

For Representatives.

HENRY Y. CRANSTON,

JOSEPH ANTHONY.

JOSEPH B. WEAVER.

BENJAMIN FINCH.

THOMAS R. HUNTER.

The meeting then adjourned.

Whig—The Board of Canvassers yesterday afternoon decided to retain the name of Mr. Lawrence on the Voting List. It is an erroneous decision, and will not be sustained by the Grand Committee, when the votes are counted, we are confident.

Sal Accident.—A highly respectable farmer, in Lebanon, N. H., was shot on Wednesday by his own son. The father and son were shooting rats under the barn of the deceased, when the gun of the latter was by some accident suddenly discharged, lodging the whole charge in the body of his father, who died almost instantly. The son has been deprived of his reason since the time of the accident.

Fashionable Piety.—The poorest kind of religion is better than none. We have it of all sorts, from the frivolous to the fanatical. The latter doomsfall men who do not belong to the same communion to a hell of unending torments—the former worships God, provided the church is fashionable, or the new bonnet came home in season. Fashionable piety reads the command to keep the Sabbath, "In it thou shalt have no amusement, thou, nor thy son, nor daughter," &c. Fashionable piety rides to church in a carriage, teeters up the middle aisle, and with a simper of elegant self-satisfaction says, "Lord be merciful unto us miserable sinners!" Vide Grace and Trinity churches. [Marchant's Ledger.]

The Invisible Fox.—We verily believe that the best jokes in the world occurred in our colleges, and the one we are about to narrate is as true as it is amusing. It transpired in the "Old North State."

One of the Professors of—Colleges was in the habit of exercising a surveillance over the students after night-fall, which was by no means agreeable to them. He was accustomed to steal cautiously along the corridors of the building, to see what was going on not prescribed in the "Rules," he did not hesitate to peep through the key hole, and "take an observation." Some of the students resolved to cure him of his propensity, and they hit upon the following expedient:

In the course of their walk they had frequently seen, at a neighboring farm, a large black ram, which was perfectly tame, and which had been taught to butt any one who appeared to challenge him by stooping or bowing his head.—They managed one night to entice the ram to the college, where they secured him in an empty darkened room, and led him the next day. At night, just before the usual time for the Professor's espionage, they turned the ram out into the hall, having first shod him with pieces of blanket. He was perfectly black, and of course, invisible in a dark corridor. His step, also, was noiseless, as he ambulated at pleasure, the wide hall. Presently the Professor came stealing up stairs, and, on tiptoe, proceeded towards a room whence issued rather unusual sounds. As he stooped to apply his optic to the key hole of the door, the ram, taking it as a challenge, gave him a playful butt, and tumbled him head over heels. Picking himself up as well as he could in his astonishment, he was assailed in the rear, and once more prostrated. This amusing illustration of the ups and downs of life continued some minutes, until both parties made an unpremeditated descent of the stairs. The alarmed Professor was not sufficiently hurt by his fall to disable him from flight, and he made tracks to his dwelling with Gilpin speed. The liberated animal fled also towards his home.

The next morning, the worthy Professor was seen, at an early hour, examining the floor of the hall very closely for some tracks which might unfold to him the character of the nocturnal foe. He sought in vain, however—and for days the mystery rather preyed upon his spirits.

After the graduation of the next class, he inquired of one of the laureates if he had lost a hand in the adventure of that night, and begged him, if it were so, to explain to him the mystery. When the explanation was given, the Professor was convulsed with laughter, and said that had he discovered the joke at the time, he should have pardoned the authors for the matchless fun of the thing.—Southern Literary Gazette.

Whig—The Providence Post of yesterday contains the following letter from Gen. James defining his position. We should not suppose, after this, that any one could pretend to question his Democracy. We have always been satisfied that he was as radical a Democrat as there is in the State:

Editor of the Providence Journal

Having seen the letters published in your paper of Friday last, relating to me, I deem it an act of justice to myself, to my friends and to the public to say:—1st. That I have never on any occasion, nor to any person, said that I was Whig. 2d. On the contrary, I have always belonged to the Old Democratic Party. 3d. I am in favor of a judicious tariff; such an one as will effectually protect the labor of the country, by taxing lightly, the necessities of life, and heavily, the luxuries. If there be one measure of government more democratic than another, I consider that which, by such means, compels the rich to give employment and support to the poor, to be such. 4th. I am in favor of internal improvements by the General Government—especially on our Southern and Western water, so far as the same can be carried out consistently with the Constitution—and which the true interests of our country demand. These two measures I consider as the only leading Whig measures of the present day. To these my assent and support are given, not because of any pledge to that effect, but because adopted by me many years since on principle. This is all I consider to be embraced in my note to the Hon. William Sprague, and it was so regarded at the time it was written.—These measures are, in my estimation, not only Whig, but Democratic; lying at the very foundation of our national prosperity and greatness; especially that of protection to our industry.

I regret exceedingly the necessity which compels me to appear in the public press in my own behalf, and was induced to hope I should be left free to exert what little ability and influence I might possess for the benefit of our State and Country in accordance with my best judgement, independently of party dictation; and I still hold the fixed determination, without reference to such dictation, to pursue such a line of conduct as in my judgement may best comport with the true interests of our common country. Thus much I have said in justice to myself and others; and shall leave my course in the Senate of the United States to speak for itself when the time may come.

Whig—The Invisible Fox.—We verily believe that the best jokes in the world occurred in our colleges, and the one we are about to narrate is as true as it is amusing. It transpired in the "Old North State."

The alarmed Professor was not sufficiently hurt by his fall to disable him from flight, and he made tracks to his dwelling with Gilpin speed. The liberated animal fled also towards his home.

Whig—The greatest commotion that we have heard of lately, was used by the celebrated Com. Coe, of the Montevidian Navy, who, in an engagement with Admiral Brown, of the Buenos Ayres, fired every shot from his lockers.

"What shall we do, sir?" asked his first lieutenant; "we've not a single shot aboard; round, grape, canister, and double headed are all gone."

"Powder gone, eh?" asked Coe.

"No sir, got lots of that."

"We had a confounded hard cheese, a round Dutch one, for dessert at dinner to day; don't you remember it?" said Coe.

"I ought to, I broke the carving knife in trying to cut it, sir!"

"Are there any more on board?"

"About two dozen; we took 'em from a droger."

"Will they go into the 18 pounders?"

"By thunder, Commodore, but that's the idea, I'll try them," cried the first Lieutenant.

And in a few minutes the fire of the old "Santa Maria," (Coe's ship,) which had ceased entirely, was re-opened, and Admiral Brown found more shot flying over his head. Directly one of them struck his mainmast, and as it did so, shattered and flew in every direction.

Directly another one came in through a port and killed two men who stood near it; then striking the bulwarks burst into splinters.

"By Jove, this is too much, this is some new fangled Paixhian or other! I don't like 'em at all!" cried Brown, and then an hour or five more of them came slapping through his sides, he gave the order to fill away, and actually backed out of the fight, receiving a parting broadside of Dutch cheese.

Whig—According to the articles of war, it is death to stop a cannon ball.
